

Benjamin M. Ampel

Assistant Professor in Computer Information Systems and Director, CyberAI Research and Education Center (CARE) |
Georgia State University
bampel@gsu.edu | <https://bampel.com>

Research Snapshot

Benjamin M. Ampel - Assistant Professor of Computer Information Systems at Georgia State University. Research in AI-enabled Cybersecurity, Large Language Models, and Cyber Threat Intelligence.

Key Metrics

Publications	45
J / C / W	9 / 28 / 8
Years Active	2019-2027
Citations	630
h-index	10
i10-index	11
Avg cites/paper	14.0
Avg authors/paper	3.6
Citation velocity	141
Top venue	IEEE ISI

Collaboration

Unique co-authors: 42
Institutions: 5
Countries: 1

Teaching Snapshot

Courses taught: 15 (9 unique)
Avg evaluation: 4.72/5
Institutions: 2

Research Focus

AI-enabled Cybersecurity, Cyber Threat Intelligence, Large Language Models, Deep Learning, Phishing Detection, Hacker Communities

Top Venues

- IEEE ISI
- IEEE CARS
- HICSS
- ICIS
- AMCIS
- Journal of Management Information Systems

Latest Manuscripts

Prediction Markets Are Efficient at Rest and Dislocated in Motion

HICSS | 2027 | Conference

Pathways to AI-Ready Entry-Level Talent for Industry Domains: Modular, Adaptive...

ICIS | 2026 | Conference

Prosody Training for Lowering Vishing Susceptibility

ICIS | 2026 | Conference

Recent Awards

- 2025 — Robinson College of Business IS Cybersecurity Graduate Program Top...
- 2024 — ACM SIGMIS Doctoral Dissertation Award
- 2023 — Best Paper Award, IEEE Intelligence and Security Informatics
- 2023 — Doctoral Consortium

Citation Trend

- 2026: 141
- 2025: 158
- 2024: 134

Generated on 2026-10-05